Pearlington residents face rebuilding with hard work and humor

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

On Sunday Sister Lillie Sams told me the story about how she rode out Hurricane Katrina in the place where she feels the safest, her church, Greater Mt. Zion African Methodist Episcopal in Pearlington. When flood waters rose quickly to cover houses Sister Sams and several other family members chopped a hole in the ceiling of the church and got up in the attic. They watched as water rose up to the ceiling.

Sister Sams daughter Laller McCall said she was scared.

"I wanted to get down, but it was a good place to get away from the water," she said. "I stayed up there to keep from drowning, but I was scared; we all could have died."

The family was in the attic for about eight hours while one of Sister Sams' other daughters Orealia Marshall, with the help of her son John and others, took a boat out to try to rescue people trapped by the flood. Orealia went out in the boat as the eye of the storm passed the area.

"It looked just like today," Orealia said, meaning the sunny skies that filled the area on Sunday.

"The water came up in 20 minutes; you could not see a house in 20 minutes; it was unreal, unreal," Orealia said. "The boat got stuck on a house and my son asked momma what is that, and I couldn't think about it. The storm started back up and there were houses floating and trees falling down. The lord gave me the strength to keep going-he was with us because the plug was out of the boat, the one that keeps the water out, and not one bit of water came in."

"One of the passengers slipped out of the boat into the flood water and John jumped out to save him," said Orealia. "They swam to the church. There were people on roofs."

It was too late to get in the church. The boatload managed to get in to the Marshall house through a broken window and stood on furniture or whatever they could to keep their heads above water.

"We stood on tip toes and held our heads up," Orealia said. But at least they weren't out in the storm.

As for Sister Sams she says she was never worried, never scared.

"I was not a bit scared because I knew that the good Lord was with me," said Sister Sams. "He said if you serve me I will take care of you and so I knew we would be OK. I said, Lord look after us."

Sister Sams did lose a nephew Roland Watts. "He was coming to the church and the water overtook him," she said. Watts' funeral was held on Monday.

When I asked whether she would stay in Pearlington Sister Sams laughed.

"Why yes darlin', why yes," she said. "This is my home, of course I'll be here, this is my home; why would I leave my home."

It is a sentiment echoed by many other residents of the small community, many of whom already did have to leave property that their ancestors had called home for decades, in an area that became the Stennis Space Center Buffer Zone.

Most are not as eloquent as Sister Sams. No one is going to make me leave my property, is the phrase most often used and spoken with a resolve I wouldn't want to dispute.

At Greater Mt. Zion, where Sister Sams husband was pastor for decades before his death, work was already going on. A group of Seventh Day Adventists had come to pull out carpet and strip the walls down to the bare cinder blocks. It was looking like the stained glass windows would have to be removed also.

"Our pews were on their last legs anyway," said the church pastor Rev. Fields.

The atmosphere in and around the church was one of hope. People were

Cuevas' Quotes

by Ellis C. Cuevas

Everything old is new again

History has a tendency to repeat itself.

Take for instance the community of Kiln. A hundred years ago, Kiln was one of the busiest communities in Hancock County.

(I know there are a few of my "friends" who will want to know if I lived there at the time; but, for their information, my family had many residing in Kiln at the time.)

At the turn of the 20th century, Kiln had a 100 unit hotel, drug store, buzzing saw mill and many related businesses.

So, in the year of 2005, Katrina has revived activity in the Kiln.

County government agencies are now locating in Kiln, some on a temporary basis, but this will bring other businesses to join the ones that have come along in recent years.

As Bay St. Louis and Waveland have grown in the past 20 years or so, many folk have moved to the County (Kiln area.)

I have had many discussions over the years with friends about when I was a youngster. Then, the better homes were in the towns of Waveland and Bay St. Louis. Now, Kiln homes are far superior.

(I am sure the "mayor" of Kiln, Lauly Peterson, would like to see progress continue in her community.)

While on a serious side, we are united as a county.

We all depend on each other, Bay St. Louis, Waveland, Diamondhead, Kiln, Clermont Harbor, Lakeshore, Pearllington, Ansley/Heron Bay, Nacaise Crossing, Dedeaux, Sellers, Catahoula, and all other areas of Hancock County.

In time, we will be better than ever.

I have never ever imagined the amount of support Hancock County would receive after Katrina.

Help has come from across the nation from organizations, churches, corporations, individuals, etc.

Pockets and Payrolls

One month after Katrina, getting more cash flow into pockets and payrolls is critical to Mississippi's reconstruction and eventual revival. The best way government can help is by enacting policies specifically tailored to help spur local governments, businesses and individuals' cash flow.

"The GO Zone": President Bush made a bold proposal by introducing the Gulf Opportunity Zone or "GO Zone." This initiative would make the hardest hit swaths of Mississippi, Louisiana and Alabama eligible for special tax incentives designed to encourage the reopening of businesses and even the relocation of more businesses to our area. Even before the hurricane, South Mississippi was proving very attractive for new industries. So the GO Zone could give us an even greater advantage in the competition for new jobs.

In a recent Senate Finance Committee hearing about Mississippi's recovery from Katrina, I suggested that the GO Zone be expanded even further. For instance, the President's plan increases from $100,000 to $200,000 the limit on small business expensing for investments and equipment, but I've suggested that we remove this limit entirely, making this incentive available for all businesses, large and small alike.

We also should eliminate capital gains taxes for "GO Zone" investments, authorize more tax-exempt bonds and allow for additional advanced refunding of outstanding debt. These actions primarily would help local governments, some of which were wiped out financially and physically.

State Tax Savings: For Mississippi specifically, I've worked within the Senate Finance Committee to secure a 100 percent federal reimbursement for Mississippi's medicaid program. I normally don't advocate expansion of the medicaid rolls, but we know what a tough time state offi-

BILL CLINTON VISITS MISSISSIPPI.....

BellSouth is working hard for you

Dear Letter to the Editor - Sea Coast Echo:

In his recent column Randy Ponder rightly points out the devastating impact that Hurricane Katrina has had on the operations of a number of service providers and their customers. He misses the mark by stating that BellSouth was unprepared for the storm. BellSouth has ample experience in dealing with hurricanes, having faced 53 storms in the last 40 years. We began preparing for Katrina before she made her first landfall in Florida and were ready when the category 4 hurricane made her devastating landfall on the Gulf Coast.

The BellSouth employees who are working tirelessly on restoration are professional, hardworking and dedicated. Many of these same employees lost everything they owned in the storm; but they are on the job day in and day out doing what BellSouth does best - serving customers. We understand a working land line phone is very important to our customers' quality of life and is even more critical to the many businesses trying to restart their operations.

BellSouth has made tremendous progress in restoring service since the storm hit. In the impacted areas of Alabama, Louisiana and Mississippi, of the 3 million lines initially affected by both hurricanes Katrina and Rita, service has been restored to all but about 8%. In Mississippi, BellSouth provides service in 81 out of 82 counties, and more than 600,000 customers in our state were initially affected by hurricane Katrina. As of today, we have restored service to all but 5% of those customers.

BellSouth's facilities in Hancock County were among the most heavily damaged by the storm surge. Our Pearllington switch was destroyed. Our Bay St. Louis switch was disabled, and three dozen electronic hubs were submerged, making them inoperable. These switches and hubs - built and deployed over many years - comprised the backbone of our network in south Hancock County. Restoration began immediately after the storm subsided. Due to safety concerns, some work could not begin until commercial power was restored and debris around the facilities was removed. As people familiar with this area know, in some locations, this took up to three weeks.

Despite these logistical hurdles, BellSouth has repaired much of this backbone network and is providing temporary service measures in areas where the equipment was not repairable. In the storm's aftermath, BellSouth reacted quickly to restore services to public safety organiza-cials charged with administering this program have had even before the disaster in trying to make it balance. This reimbursement will take pressure off our governor and Legislature at a time when they most need it, and it will ensure that truly needy citizens aren't left without health benefits at this difficult time. Not an indefinite entitlement, this limited benefit would expire after 2006.

We also have provisions in the medicaid bill to continue private health care coverage for Katrina's victims. Under a new disaster relief fund, individuals who have lost their jobs but want to continue their job-based coverage will be eligible for premium assistance.

Most Americans, myself included, aren't interested in a huge expansion of government programs to people not impacted by Katrina, and we don't want people in these programs to stay on indefinitely. We want only to address their immediate needs. The time limit ensures that taxpayers won't be stuck with long-term bills while ensuring that states like Mississippi will be fully compensated for costs they incur in providing medicaid to evacuees. In fact, it actually helps control the medicaid rolls by enabling individuals to keep their private insurance.

Individual Relief and Incentives: Tax incentives targeted more toward individuals is another proposal I've help craft in the Finance Committee. This bill is designed to encourage donations and shield Katrina's victims from looming IRS deadlines. It contains a $500 tax credit to persons housing evacuees for 60 days or more; extends IRS deadlines for victims while protecting them from unreasonable penalties; provides for early withdrawals from retirement savings; and contains incentives specifically designed to encourage donations of food and other needed relief supplies.

My committee also is working on ways to address the critical insurance question along the coast. Many coast residents living far outside flood zones and without flood insurance saw their homes washed away by Katrina's storm surge. Our entire recovery could hinge on how we address this insurance adjustment question. I'll have more to report on that later, because it, too, is part of helping Katrina's victims. Getting cash into storm victims' pockets and payrolls - whether through tax relief or insurance checks - is essential to Mississippi's recovery.

Senator Lott welcomes any questions or comments about this column. Write to: U.S. Senator Trent Lott, 487 Russell Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20510 (Attn: Press Office)

tions and to repair network facilities that allowed wireless providers to restore their services.

Again, BellSouth has a tremendous amount of experience in dealing with hurricanes and we were prepared for this storm. We have committed the resources to assure that services are restored as quickly as possible. To date, we have doubled the number of employees working in Mississippi (quadrupled our force along the Gulf Coast), and they will remain in the state until the work is completed. Our current project tions indicate we will complete the vast majority of our temporary restoration by October 31. Permanent facilities will take many months to rebuild given the extensive damage that occurred not only to BellSouth equipment, but also to the landscape of Hancock County itself.

BellSouth recognizes the difficulties our customers have faced and will continue to face as we work together to rebuild our communities. Our company has served Hancock County for over 80 years. During this time, we have rebuilt after every hurricane or major storm that has ravaged the coast, and we will rebuild again.

Sincerely,
Rick Stewart

is called rapid assessment and was recently completed throughout Hancock County at the request of local government.

A team of 20 building inspectors, structural engineers, and licensed inspectors covered the county and the two cities in just about eight, ten hour days, said building inspector Don Marcheschi from California. Professionals came from all over the country to help local officials with the overwhelming task of assessing what is left of our county.

The purpose, California Emergency Services building inspector John Pino says, is to give county officials a quick estimation of the building stock in the county. The process usually takes place within the first week after a disaster, said Pino.

The information can help local government make decisions about the rebuilding process and estimate damage more accurately, a factor that is important when asking for aid. It can also help assess housing needs.

The process is not meant to be the final word on the condition of a property, Pino said, but to serve as a tool for a more thorough future assessment by local building officials or others. The idea is to get people back in livable structures and to start repairs on other structures, Pino said.

The main problems are structural damage and mold, said Marchesi, with random damage caused by dozens of tornadoes that touched down throughout the county. Mobile homes and trailers that were flooded are very hard to save, he said, because of the swelling of walls and rapid mold growth. Pino said that though water damage was evident it was the wind that caused much of the damage he had observed throughout the county.

What do the tags mean?

• Red indicates the building is structurally unsafe, or the amount of hazardous material inside poses a significant risk. The public is asked not to enter red tagged buildings.

• Yellow indicated that there is either structural damage or conditions within the home that pose some risk such as contamination. Owners may enter these buildings but should do so with care and recognize there are safety concerns.

• Green indicates the building is safe to enter and occupy.

The county is asking that the tags remain on buildings until further notice.

Bay Council considers Coast rebuilding process

BY BENNIE SHALL-BETTER
Staff Writer

Chuck Benvenuti briefed Bay St. Louis councilmen on a planning seminar and workshop being held at the Isle of Capri this week. Under the direction of designer Andreas Duany, planners DPZ, and the Governor's Commission, all private organizations, professional planners, architects, and coast officials will spend the week touring the area and brainstorming about the future shape of our communities.

After this week, the second phase of the process will begin, Benvenuti said, which will be the public input phase. A series of public meetings will be held to listen to suggestions from residents and to poll people about the direction that they would like to take with rebuilding the county.

The workshop is being funded privately, said Benvenuti, at no cost to the county. The professionals involved have worked in other areas that have experienced earthquakes and other disasters.

"We will be looking at what we can do to make this a place where we want to live and where we want our grandchildren to live," he said.

In other business:

• Representatives from Savannah College of Design are in town all week and are willing to look at your historical structure to make recommendations for rebuilding and repairing. You may contact Brenda Crook at the Mississippi Department of Archives and History at 601-953-4957 for more information and an appointment.

• Representatives of McCune Works Inc. and the Prism Foundation will be at the Bay council meeting next Tuesday at 5 p.m. at the Depot. They will be presenting plans for alternative housing that can be set up in five hours complete with kitchen, bath, and furniture.

The ARTS helps area artists survive the hurricane intact

The Arts are alive in Hancock County! That was the message from area artists at a meeting held in Bay St. Louis Sunday. At the invitation of The Arts - Hancock County artists and supporters met to formulate plans for reviving the local art community. Approximately 50 artists and art businesses attended, representing visual and performing arts, writing, poetry, music, dance, film and theater.

Director Gwen Impson reported that The Arts has commenced locating area artists to assess their needs and assist them with information about grants, loans and donations.

To publicize the storm's impact on the arts community, The Arts website www.hancock-art.com will add an "Adopt an Artist" feature, profiling individual artist needs. Author Paul LaViolette remarked that because artists are accustomed to "giving", it is difficult to switch roles and receive; but now is the time to ask for help and accept it.

The Arts has established a Disaster Relief Fund at Hancock Bank. A donation site for supplies and materials has been established at The Arts temporary office, c/o Coastal Electric Conference Center, 302 Highway 90, Bay St. Louis 39520. Open 9-5 Saturday.

Volunteers are needed to research funding sources, input data and determine art needs in the schools. Call Gwen Impson 228-263-6530.

Musicians, production volunteers and sponsors are wanted to participate in a free community concert. Call Linda-Lou Nelson, 954-232-9888.

OLA's Crescents earn division title advances in v-ball playoffs

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

The Our Lady Academy Crescents were 12-1 on the volleyball court when Hurricane Katrina struck the Mississippi Gulf Coast on August 29th. Following the monumental disaster, OLA's championship dreams seemed to be washed away. However, after some talks with the MHSAA the Crescents' season is on again.

The Crescents played Sacred Heart of Hattiesburg in a one-game playoff for the division title since Mercy Cross and Bay High were unable to field teams. The Crescents defeated Sacred Heart for their sixth consecutive division title and advanced to the first round of the Class I state playoffs on Saturday, October 8th.

The Crescents entertained Piney Woods at Long Beach High School since OLA's gymnasium is inoperable at this time.

The Crescents swept the Lady Tornadoes of Piney Woods 25-9, 25-14 and 25-14. Rachel Cuevas led OLA with 13 points while Shelly Reboul added 17 assists in the win. Lindsay Benvenuti and Katherine Guichet tallied 7 and 5 kills, respectively.

The Crescents played Ridgeland High School on Tuesday, October 11th for the right to play for the South State title. Scoring details will be available in Sunday's edition. If the Crescents win on Tuesday, October 11th they would play at 9 a.m. on Saturday, October 15th at Madison Central High School for the South State title. The Class I state title game is set to start at 12 noon at Madison Central High School.

Tigers remain undefeated at 3-0; Labat & Adam tally top honors

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

The Bay High Tigers came from behind on Friday night to earn a 22-18 win over Division 8-4A rival Poplarville and remain undefeated in 2005 at 3-0 overall and 2-0 in the division.

The Hancock Hawks were blanked by Pascagoula 34-0 on the road Friday night despite a 116-yard rushing performance by Andrew Smith. The Pass Christian Pirates put up a good fight against the Maroon Tide of Picayune but came up short in a 28-9 defeat.

The Tigers gave up a quick score to Poplarville midway through the first period but answered with a 31-yard field goal by Kyle Moran to cut the score to 6-3. Robert Labat gave Bay High a 9-6 lead on a 31-yard interception return; however, Poplarville took a 12-9 lead into intermission courtesy of a 16-yard scoring pass from Matt Williams to Brandon Peters. Former Rock-a-chaw turned Tiger Kyle Hughes blocked his first of two PATs to keep the lead at three points.

Travis Leahy's fumble recovery set up Tyler Brush's 6-yard scoring pass to Trevor Adam shortly after the third period began. Moran converted on the PAT for Bay High which led 16-12.

Poplarville reclaimed an 18-12 lead following a Matt Williams 5-yard run just as the fourth period began. Hughes blocked the PAT keeping the difference at two points.

With less than six minutes remaining in the game, Labat broke free for an 18-yard scoring run that sealed the win for the Tigers. The remaining minutes of the game were dominated by the Tiger defense, led by Trevor Adam, Labat and Cory Thornton. Adam led the way with 9 tackles, a sack and a forced fumble. Labat added 8 tackles and two interceptions while Thornton added 12 total tackles.

The Hawks (0-3) remained winless with a 34-0 loss to the Pascagoula Panthers on Friday night. The Hawks had bright spots on offense with Andrew Smith gaining 116 yards on 26 carries while Brently Necaise led the Hawk defense with 8 total tackles including two sacks.

The Pirates (1-3) trailed just 14-9 to the Maroon Tide at halftime; however, they were shutout 14-0 in the second half of a 28-9 defeat.

Pass Christian, which is not playing any home games this season due to Hurricane Katrina decimating their field, got their only points of the night from Jonathan Willis. He scored on a 37-yard run and later kicked a 27-yard field goal.

The Maroon Tide held Pass Christian to just 143 total yards in the game.

The Bay High Tigers will host the Pass Christian Pirates at Joe D. McCullough Stadium on Friday night in a Division 8-4A showdown. The game was supposed to have been played at McDonald Field in Pass Christian;

however, Hurricane Katrina seriously damaged the Pirates' home field and left the Pirates to travel for the entire 2005 season.

The Hancock Hawks return home to Hawk Stadium and Brett Favre Field on Friday to entertain the Gulfport Admirals (2-1 overall, 2-0 Region 4-5A.) The Admirals were 40-10 winners over Harrison Central.

The Offensive Player of the Week for Week #4 is Bay High's Robert Labat who tallied 91 yards and two touchdowns. This marks just the second game that Labat has lined up in the backfield for the Tigers. He usually plays as wide receiver.

The Defensive Player of the Week for Week #4 is Trevor Adam of Bay High. The senior line-backer tallied 9 total tackles including a key sack and a forced fumble in the Tigers' 22-18 win over Poplarville.

Hancock Co. HRA Senior Citizens and Child Development programs to reopen

THE ECHO
Free childcare, anyone?

Yeah, you heard that right, free child care will be provided at the Hancock County Child Development Center beginning Monday, October 17, 2005 and lasting for 60 days following that time. The center, located at 299 Washington Street, is licensed by the Ms State Dept. of Health and can serve up to 40 children from ages one to five years old. Priority will be given to returning students actively enrolled prior to Hurricane Katrina and services will be provided for free the first 60 days without regard to income or working status as long as parents are actively seeking employment. Hancock County Human Resources Agency has an ongoing community partnership grant with the Office for Children and Youth, MS State Dept. of Human Services. Priority in services will change after the initial 60 days and parents will have to re-qualify based on income and working status unless further time is granted thru this emergency child care assistance program. The center will be open Monday thru Friday from 7:00 a.m. until 5:15 p.m. and will serve breakfast, lunch and an afternoon snack. An early childhood curriculum focusing on the social, emotional, intellectual, and physical development of the child will be provided. Registration and open house will be held Friday, October 14, 2005 from 7:00 a.m. until 5:15 p.m. Mrs. Sallie West, C.D.A., C.D., Program Director, and her dedicated staff have been working extremely hard to get the program ready to serve children. For further questions, you can reach HCHRA Executive Director, Lora Mederos at 228-216-0249.

Hancock County Human Resources Agency would also like to announce the tentative re-opening of their Senior Center under the direction of Ms. Arlene Johnson, Program Director. The center, along with the congregate meals program and local transportation program will open on November 14, 2005 pending the closing of the Shelter currently ongoing there. You can reach Ms. Johnson at 467-9292 to discuss any plans or wishes to attend this program. Applications are also being taken for the Home Delivered Meals Program for persons 60 and older who are homebound and score a 22 or higher on the pre-screening needs assessment. Persons can call 228-216-0249 to request an assessment for eligibility for this program.

Plans to re-open the administrative office, the PATH Community Youth Partnership, and the Youth Development Program (a collaborative effort with the Boys & Girls Club of the Gulf Coast and 2nd Street Elem.) are still pending at this time but should be finalized by this Friday. An update will be given as soon as plans are finalized.

too busy thinking to the future to spend time mulling over the past. Fields and Orealia discussed whether the banister around the altar could be saved. They decided it would have to be removed but could likely be cleaned.

Some of the volunteers went to Sister Sams house next door to assess the damage. Water had likely gone up to the roof and the inside was filled with a thick layer of mud, like most of the structures for miles around. That didn't phase Sister Sams, who turned 87 years old last week and gets around like a woman 50 years younger.

"We can clean that out, we can clean that out, don't you think," she asked, her determined expression daring anyone to disagree.

I think Sister Sams can do just about anything she sets her mind to, and if she can't, she can definitely inspire others to help her. And as she would say, the good Lord will take care of the rest.

Rev. Fields and church member Orealia Marshall talk to a volunteer about repairs to Greater Mt. Zion in Pearlinton.

Local architects providing free damage assessments

The Mississippi Construction Industry Coalition announces that architects from around Mississippi and across the nation have rallied to assist Hurricane Katrina victims by donating their time and expertise, traveling to the Mississippi Gulf Coast to perform free damage assessments for home and small business owners who request them.

The national office of the American Institute of Architects (AIA) is supporting the Mississippi Chapter of the AIA in training and organizing teams of volunteers to do building assessments. The national AIA Disaster Assistance Program, in conjunction with FEMA, has trained 105 Mississippi members to do assessments, and then developed a form for architects to simply and accurately document damage to a building.

To request an assessment on your property, call the organization's toll-free number at (866) 242-2203. Assessments will be performed until requests are no longer received from the public.

Meg Artigues and Mattison Scardino of Bay Catholic Elementary were recently recommended and accepted to participate as members of the People to People World Leadership Forum in Washington, D.C., this fall (October 23rd-30th). The objective of the program is to develop leadership skills among Luther Upton, right and Berlin Findley do the morning show on radio station WPGG in Alabama. They used the show to gather volunteers from five counties.

Alabama crew heads to Hancock every weekend with storm relief

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

When WPGG station manager Luther Upton heard the reports on Hurricane Katrina, he and morning show partner Berlin Findley knew they wanted to do something to help her victims. With a country western/community humor based show that reaches five Alabama counties around the Burton Camden area, the two had the means to put out a call for help. So they did just that.

"We just wanted to help," said Upton. "We had just got hit by Ivan, but it was nothing like this. We just thought we could do something to help. Larry Gaston came over from Camden and we decided to join him—we are all from the same neck of the woods.

They have been driving over themselves with volunteers in tow each weekend to cook and serve some of the best food in the area. The varied group has been coming over for about five weeks now and have served over 20,000 people in the last three weeks. It is the only really hot meal many people get all week, they say.

Last Sunday they served barbecue brisket and pork chops. This past Sunday the cooking was just getting underway on giant grills that the most discriminating chef would be proud to cook on. Upton was unveiling a brand new super duper grill that looked like it could produce enough food to serve an army.

The two men don't want to take credit for anything but putting out the call though. They say that it is a community effort with donations by check going directly to help hurricane victims. Volunteers even pay their own way here.

With the donations, the group not only buys food, but other necessities such as camping gear, sweat shirts and pants and other items they think people may need. They try to keep up with current needs, they say and will keep on coming as long as they are needed. This week they moved across the street to the Rite Aid at Hwy. 90 and Nicholson in Waveland from their previous location at the Exxon parking lot across the street.
